Woodlan's School Policy

It is the belief of the school that the ultimate goals and purposes of education should be the training and development of the whole individual. It is also our purpose to impress upon each individual a respect for and a sense of obligation to the state and society which has made possible our public school system, in turn a part of our American democracy. We further believe that each pupil should be instilled with the idea he is responsible for passing on to posterity by precept and example the physical, moral, spiritual, social, cultural, and intellectual heritage which has been intrusted to his keeping. Since every person is born with certain inherent and potential abilities, it is our duty as educators to help to develop these faculties so the student will become a useful citizen. This is a three-fold duty and privilege of the home, church and school working in close unity, but since it is three-fold, the school must accept its rightful share in this task.

We believe that every student should have equal opportunity to learn without fear or favoritism and that we create an atmosphere that will not be detrimental to the mental health of the individual. The student should be taught to get along with others and ultimately that he is to take his rightful place in society. We therefore advocate he be trained as a well-rounded person.

THE MOON and beyond

Bright, new horizons await today's students . . . new technologies . . . new advancements on all fronts . . . even the moon and whatever lies beyond.

How far you go in this space age depends partly on your imagination but primarily on your education and training. Conquering new horizons will demand more of today's graduates—more knowledge, more skills, more training and more specialization.

Our Free Enterprise system, with its high living standards, gives you an opportunity to "shoot for the moon" in any field. Whether or not your target is reached depends on how well trained you are to launch your career.
